The Emperor Dead

BERLIN, March 9—At 7 o'clock this morning the following bulletin was issued:

"It is with sorrowful heart that I announce the sad intelligence that my beloved father, the emperor and king, has passed away peacefully this morning at 8:30 o'clock. Up to the last moment he performed the duties of his office. Signed, WILLIAM."

BERLIN, March 9—The emperor died this morning.

Witnesses of the scenes at the bedside of the emperor state that during the last hours of his life he suffered much pain.

Shortly after 9 o'clock all the members of the family, standing at the bedside, the court dignitaries, generals and officers of state were summoned to the chamber in which the emperor lay. The emperor was in a half sitting posture on a camp bedstead. All present knelt down. The royal family took leave of the dead emperor at the bedside. The room was filled with kneeling people. Prince William stood at the emperor's head, bending over the face of his father, anxiously watching the features, which expressed the most profound grief.

THE PEOPLE INFORMED

The following proclamation has been issued by God to call his majesty, our most gracious emperor and king, our most gracious master, from life, after a short illness, into a richly blessed reign. The sorrowful mourning with the royal house on account of a deeply beloved and venerable monarch, whose wisdom and love ruled for nearly over its welfare and in peace.

THE MINISTER OF STATE.

The death of the emperor was announced in the parliament by lowering to half mast over the palace of the imperial standard, which flies when the emperor is present. Flags are displayed on all the public buildings. An immense concourse of people gathered outside the palace and remained there in silent and sorrowful

PARLIAMENT IS TAKEN BY SURPRISE

BERLIN, March 9—When the reichstag met this morning Prince Bismarck, with great dignity, informed the members of the death of Emperor William. He also announced that the new king would be proclaimed at Frederick III.

The meeting of the lower house of the reichstag to-day (Friday) was presided over by Herr von Putt kamer, president of the Prussian house of deputies.

The following is the official announcement:

"It has pleased God to call his majesty, our most gracious emperor and king, William, to himself this morning at 8:30 o'clock after a long illness."

The emperor died this morning at his residence in Berlin, surrounded by his children and grandchildren. His majesty was conscious to the last moment. He performed the duties of his office up to the last moment.

The secretary also sent to the Associated Press the following dispatch from Baron Zillwitz, chief of the household, which the following is a copy:

Baron Zillwitz's dispatch is followed by your note of this date. I already received notification by telegraph from Mr Pendleton, our minister to Berlin. The seal of death has at last been placed upon a long and illustrious career, and the people of the United States sympathize with all German hearts in the death of Emperor William. We extend consideration to the Empress.

The Senate Adjourns

SAN REMO, March 9—It is expected the steamer will be passed a good day. Prince and Princess Bismarck and the children started with his family for the first time since the operation was performed for. He is looking forward to starting in order to return to Berlin. Doctors still have some fears that inflammation of the lungs may result from the journey.

Public Defense

WASHINGTON, March 9—After several weeks' debate the senate committee on military affairs has determined to recommend the passage of the Cutcheon bill amended in one respect appropriating $7,475,000 for public defenses. The original bill was amended by diminishing the appropriation for guns to $5,000,000, and the inclusion of certain recommendations made by General Benet, chief of ordnance, based upon and use of the coast defense board.

The senate committee on naval affairs practically agreed to favorably report favorable the bill introduced by Senator Dolph to provide for further amendment provides that the gun factory to be established shall be located at Watervliet arsenal, New York, instead of at the Frankford arsenal, Pennsylvania. The bill provides that the secretary of war be appropriated $1,000,000 for the purpose of providing for the above the amount appropriated by section 3 is to be expended in any one fiscal year, but $1,000,000 may be expended in each of the eleven fiscal years thereafter, and $1,000,000 during the fiscal year 1889. The money is to be expended in accordance with the recommendations of the board appointed by the secretary of war, according to plans approved by a board of officers. Guns for the armament are to be fabricated at the Washington navy yard and the gun factory at the navy yard, and orders of war are to be placed in the hands of the secretary of the navy, to make contracts with responsible steel manufacturers for a supply of rough bored and tempered steel in forms suitable for being drawn and finished steel for armor and other purposes in quantities of not less than 100 gross tons. The construction, fabrication, manufacture, testing, delivery, arrangement and location of the guns and carriages is to be under the supervision of the secretary of war. The sum provided shall be further distributed as follows: Watervliet arsenal, $1,000,000 is appropriated for the establishment of this factory.

Stock Markets

NEW YORK, March 9—Money easy at 3@4. Sterling 4.86 1-2@4.87. Commercial bills 4.83 1-2@4.84. Bar silver 97 1-4. Mexican dollars 77 1-2. Government bonds dull; state bonds inactive; railroad bonds strong. The stock market today was without features, there being no developments or news of any kind to start a movement in either direction and under the circumstances traders and scalpers had the market pretty much to themselves. Fluctuations in most of the list were confined to the narrowest limits and there were frequent alternations from strength to weakness, and back again with a mixed (illegible) progress in either direction. Government firm.

New Postal Contract

SANTA FE, N. M., March 9—Yesterday Mail Contractor Frost was committed to jail for refusing illegal to sublet certain of the mail routes. He refused to pay the fine and costs imposed upon him, and was taken to the county jail. He was released this morning, however, on a writ of habeas corpus issued by Judge Reed. The writ was issued on the ground that the fine was excessive. Frost will appeal the case to the supreme court of the territory.

Another Fight Postponed

LONDON, March 9—The fight between Sullivan and Mitchell, which was to have taken place on the Isle of Wight, has been postponed by the Queensberry committee of the exhibition, owing to the fact that the Queen and royal family will visit Osborne house, which is immediately adjacent to the place selected for the fight. The fight will probably take place on the Isle of Man.

The Weather Bulletin

WASHINGTON, March 9—Indications for the Rocky Mountain slope: Fair weather, stationary temperature, except slightly warmer in Montana, light to fresh winds, generally from the southeast.

BOARD OF TRADE.

Large and Interesting Meeting of the Board of Trade

Committee Appointed to Solicit Subscription for the Pool Island

Report About Ten Thousand Dollars Already Subscribed

Statement Made Regarding the Holden Smelter Site.

An adjourned meeting of the board of trade was held last night in the city hall, there being present Vice President Bemis in the chair, Secretary Barnes and Treasurer Bell. In the absence of President Dr. Vale the minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary and approved.

Mr Beck, on behalf of the special committee appointed to solicit coal companies for the Rock Island railroad, reported that since the last meeting of the board the committee had been actively at work raising the money. The committee had succeeded in getting subscriptions to the amount of about $10,000. No letting had been done in either Colorado City or Manitou, but a canvass would be made in those places. Mr Campbell further stated that the committee had confined their efforts almost entirely to the business men and merchants, but that they expected to make a thorough canvass among the residents of the city. He was aware of the fact that a great many citizens had already subscribed or intended to subscribe to the fund for the contemplated smelter, but that should not deter them from doing an object so worthy as that for which the committee were soliciting funds. Some of the real estate agents had subscribed very generously and others had not given as much as they should. It was not a pleasant thing to solicit subscriptions, but the committee felt that the citizens' interests were so directly concerned in the building of the road that they were willing to devote their time and attention to securing for the road the land and right of way privileges asked for.

Captain De Courcey having been called on stated that he fully indorsed what Mr Campbell had stated concerning the importance of contributing to this fund. He said that the interest and welfare of the city could best be subserved by coming forward and subscribing generously and voluntarily to the fund required. He said that the property which the committee had procured for $30,000 would have cost the railroad company outside parties over $100,000. He thought that the price obtained was more than nothing, and that the difference between what the railroad company would have had to pay and the price secured by the committee had been given to the citizens of the city. He thought that it would take hard work to get the remaining $30,000 but was confident that it could raise it if everybody put their shoulders to the wheel.

The subscription papers were then circulated among those present and before the meeting adjourned $10,000 had been subscribed.

Mr A. J. Lawton from the special committee on coal rates reported that the depot of the Holden smelter was still undecided, that the committee were of the impression that Mr Holden had no secret and that the Colorado City and Manitou people were making every effort but could make no more. The fund for the smelter the committee were waiting to hear from Mr Holden before they began the work of raising the required sum.

Mr P. Brunner of The Mines and Railroad said that Mr Holden had authorized him to state to the meeting that Mr Holden smelter would be built if Colorado City provided the necessary track to the summit of the mesa on which the smelter was to be located would be built. Mr Brunner also gave the meeting the reasons of the delay in determining the site which Mr Holden and the committee in charge with him had encountered.

Mr Howbert said that as far as the Colorado Midland Railway company was concerned they would do all in the way of track arrangements which Mr Holden might require.

On motion of Mr Campbell the board adjourned to meet at the call of the chairman.

The Fight Postponed

LONDON, March 9—The Sullivan-Mitchell fight has been postponed on account of a squabble. It will probably take place Monday.

Another Frame, March 9—Secret service men and Mitchell are here. Detectives are watching the movements very closely. Plenty of arrangements have marked the progress thus far and the announcement that the fight was postponed caused no surprise. There seems a general feeling that a squabble will come and that the fight will not take place at all. Sullivan's friends say that Mitchell is a weakling and would stand no show.

T. P. Potter Dead

WASHINGTON, March 9—Thomas T. Potter, vice president and general manager of the Union Pacific railroad company, died at Welcker's hotel at 11 o'clock this morning.

The next demand will be for Spring Clothing. Everybody is busy at this season of the year and particularly during the present boom. Just think how long it will take you to have a suit made to order and then think how quickly and neatly you can be fitted by stepping into my store. The "knack" of making ready made clothing has developed into a science and there are but few men or boys who can not find just what they want in the ready made line without going to the extra expense and worry of having their clothing made to order. Then look at the difference in the cost: why pay $40 for a suit when you can get it ready made for $20 or $25. Having been in the Clothing business in Colorado Springs for such a long time, I have been able to learn just what particular line and style of goods is adapted for this market, and have guided my purchases of manufacturers accordingly. Also remember that Dows is the place for Gentlemen's Furnishings of all styles and prices.

Low, president of the Chicago, Kansas & Nebraska railroad, which is the extension of the Rock Island west of the Missouri river, was in town yesterday in the interest of that road. He spent the day in company with Messrs. John A. Thatcher, J. B. Grant, J. N. Carlile and other gentlemen who are interested in Pueblo's growth and prosperity, but as far as could be learned had made them no specific proposition regarding the terms on which his road would come to Pueblo. He informed a representative of the Chieftain that the people of Colorado Springs had accepted a proposition made them by the Rock Island, and that the western extension of the road would go directly to that point, coming from there to Pueblo if it came here at all. He was not prepared to state definitely what proposition would be made to Pueblo, but said that on his return, which would occur in a few days, he would state exactly what the terms were and that the matter would then rest with with Pueblo, whether the Rock Island came here or not."

THE BRIGHTON CREAMERY.

Gentlemen's Tribute to the Cleanliness of the Institution.

DENVER, COLO., Feb. 26, 1888.

Mr. H. M. Houton, Manager Brighton Creamery, Denver, Colo.:

DEAR SIR—The undersigned citizens of Denver take pleasure in stating that on the 22nd instant they visited the creamery under your general management at the town of Brighton. During several hours they fully and carefully inspected its system, from the reception of the cream to the packing of the butter for shipment to various cities in the state and neighboring territories.

In our judgment the system appears eminently just and fair to the dairyman, the creamery and the merchant.

We take special pleasure in saying that the works are free from disagreeable odors, and a high degree of neatness and cleanliness prevails throughout.

It is gratifying to know that the industries of the state can claim one more as being firmly and profitably established.

Yours truly, R. W. WOODBURY,
M. SPANOLTH,

SOMETHING NEW.

Having just received one of the Largest consignments of WALL PAPER that was ever brought to El Paso county, at one time, and, in order to dispose of it quick, and to give our patrons a share of the profits, we have concluded to give three grand prizes, that shall be a benefit to every property holder in the county. To every purchaser of six double rolls of Paper and over and border for the same amount of paper, we shall give a chance in a GRAND DRAWING for the papering of three parlors in three different ways, the size of the parlor not to exceed 16x18.

THE FIRST PRIZE. Shall be for papering ceiling and walls with the very best hand-made Embossed Paper in our store, the lucky party to select the paper. The wood work to be painted or stained to match the paper.

SECOND PRIZE—The ceiling and walls to be papered with Colored Bronze Paper; wood work painted or stained to match.

THIRD PRIZE.—The ceiling and walls papered with a flat paper; that is, a paper without gilt; wood work painted or stained to match.

The mode of drawing will be by tickets, with name and number, put in a box, which will be [illegible] until the 30th day of July, 1888. Then all tickets shall be stirred in a revolving wheel and a disinterested party blind folded shall draw out one ticket, which shall indicate the owner of the first prize. Thousand and third in the same manner shall then be drawn. m-6-1y

Manager of the Gazette.

SUNDAY'S GAZETTE.

To-morrow's edition of the GAZETTE will be a specially interesting number. With it we begin a series of articles by Benson J. Lossing, LL.D. Mr. Lossing is the only writer now living who endeavored to write the history of the revolutionary period on information gained from the actors in it. As a young man, he spent a great deal of time in calling on revolutionary veterans, and recording the story that they gave him of the great events. To-morrow we shall give "The Fifer's Story of the Battle of Lexington." Mr. Lossing personally conversed with the fifer, who was then a very old man, and gained this story from him. The story, though one hundred and thirteen years old, has the freshness, therefore, of a narrative of personal experience. The fifer had two relatives also in the same battle, who were killed.

Especially appropriate is a description of the various arms of Germany's military force, the annual maneuvres by which its discipline and efficiency are maintained, and an explanation of the effect of the law recently passed.

Paul Heyse, while in Paris established a French republican and drew [illegible] in regard to Spain and France. The sharp criticisms, stinging and thoughtful, again lost a very desirable article.

Edgar Fawcett contributes an article which is intended for would-be novelists and poets. To attain success, he says, patience and practice indispensable. Beginners will find some practical advice.

From Paris comes an account of the fencing schools and sketches of the leading swordsmen. Paris is considered the home of the fencing art and it is more generally taught than at any previous time. The names of some of the prominent swordsmen are well known as those of men distinguished in politics and letters.

Under the title of "Women of The Third French Republic" are given pen pictures of Mmes. Carnot, Floquet, Rouvier, Waddington and others.

The new emperor is crowned as Frederick III. and is the first of that name since Frederick the Great. The latter was crowned as Frederick II.

The committee of the board of trade will solicit subscriptions to-day in Colorado City and Manitou for the Rock Island fund. They should be generously received. The Rock Island gives all three cities a direct line east. It will do more than any road has done to advertise this country and bring in tourists and settlers.

The Republican seems to be determined to stand with the strikers. When it was first suggested that the strike might extend to those lines which would receive business of the Burlington line, in accordance with the inter-state commerce bill, the Republican deprecated it, and advised the engineers not to lose the sympathy of the public by taking such a radical course; but the Republican has now changed its mind, and it is now advising this very course to the railroads and the engineers.

It is a matter of regret that some of our merchants have not subscribed liberally to the Rock Island fund. The money expended in this city will more than pay the city back. Unfortunately, however, the profits are likely to go into the pockets of those who do not subscribe instead of those who do. This is not a philanthropic enterprise that demands charity. It is a business enterprise that should be generously supported for selfish reasons.

Judge Gresham, of Indiana, is growing daily in popularity as the republican candidate for president. The politicians do not take very much to his candidacy, but he seems to be very popular among the people. His qualifications are, first: He is a patriotic man, as shown by his service in the union army during the war. He is a man of good natural ability, as shown by his services on the bench. As postmaster general, he demonstrated his executive ability. He is a man of clean life and high character. He has the strong qualities of a candidate of a negative record, as there is nothing in his record that can be attacked, and, and at the same time, he has a positive record which shows that he is amply fitted to occupy the office of president.

The late emperor did not begin his great career until active life is over for the lives of humanity. He was crowned king of Prussia at the age of 65 and emperor at the age of 71. Yet his reign was a year longer than the average reign of his predecessors. His son is old to ascend the throne, yet he is eighteen years younger than the late emperor when he became emperor of Germany. He had not only a successful reign but has been a good king. His heart has always been thoroughly German and this means that he was honest, loyal and brave. He loved his people. One of the most touching features of his latter days has been his daily appearance at the windows of the imperial palace to receive the loyal salutations of his people. While Bismarck has been the real power behind the throne, it must be said that he could have accomplished what he has with but few men as kings. The emperor knew his worth and was steadfast in supporting his measures. No mean jealousy interfered with the triumphs of his prime minister.

STATE NEWS.

Villa Park, a tract of 100 acres lying west of Denver, sold on Thursday for $200,000.

Professor W. D. Gunning, the well-known scientific lecturer, died at Greeley on Thursday afternoon.

The Leadville board of trade has refused to reconsider a motion forcepting all coal except the Canon City coal.

In the Denver police court, ex-Senator Tabor, Will Carleton and J. F. Cordray were fined $5 and costs each for giving a performance on the Sabbath. An appeal was taken to a higher court.

The city council of Leadville are evidently afraid to meet the gambling issue forced upon them by the citizens. At the meeting of the council called for Thursday evening to consider the matter, there was not a quorum present.

Damaged a Million Pounds.

LONDON, March 8. Some months ago George W. Butterfield came here from San Francisco to sell the May Lundy and other mining properties in the Honer district, California. A company was formed with a capital of a million pounds to buy the property. The Financial News attacked the scheme and only three thousand pounds out of the million wanted was subscribed by the public. Attacks upon the company having been continued, Butterfield brought a libel suit against the Financial News and Mr. Marks, its editor, claiming a million pounds damage.

TELEGRAPH BREVITIES.

Cardinal Ezacki died yesterday of apoplexy.

Indications for Colorado Colder, fresh to brisk northerly winds, fair weather.

Joel Barrett, a wealthy farmer of Ravenna, Texas, has been arrested, together with six grown sons, for a murder committed in 1868. A man claiming that he saw the deed gave the information to the grand jury.

On Tuesday the inter-state commerce commission will go to Chicago, where several days will be heard; thence to Omaha on the 19th and to Lincoln on the 21st. A number of hearings will be given at each of these cities.

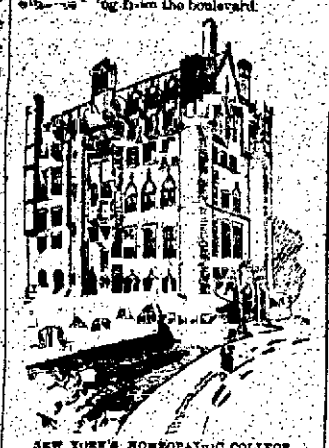
A HOMEOPATHIC COLLEGE.

[illegible] to Erect a Fine Building in Central Park.

[illegible]

New York, Feb. 27.—It is proposed to erect a Homeopathic Medical College, to which is given [illegible]. The college and hospitals are to be [illegible] a group of buildings of which the college will be the center, the [illegible] a surgical pavilion, a maternity hospital, a [illegible] hospital and a training school for [illegible], which latter is to be chiefly the dwelling [illegible] for the nurses, their rear school being the wards of the hospitals.

The architectural style is the late French gothic, the style of the latter part of the Fifteenth century. The site is on the western boulevard, at Sixty-third street, the college [illegible] fronting on the boulevard.



NEW YORK'S HOMEOPATHIC COLLEGE.

On the lowest or ground floor of the college is the dispensary, in rooms on both sides of the central hall. Covered passages lead to the corner towers, where the winding stairs ascend to the anatomical and dissecting room above. The first floor above is for the library and senior lecture room. On the second floor to the west, in a series of small rooms, are accommodations for small classes, for private investigation in chemistry and the like, store rooms for apparatus, etc. The plan of this second story shows the lower part of the anatomical theatre, the lecturer's desk, and the lowest seats. The plan of the third story shows the upper seats.

On the top floor is the dissecting room, and a toilet room is arranged to connect with it. There is no access to the dissecting room except through the professor's rooms. It is intended that every student entering the hall shall go through the toilet room and change his dress, and, leaving, he shall return through the toilet room. It is intended that all the appointments about the building shall surpass any other similar institution in the world for convenience and utility.

S. G. L.

The English Tradesman's Courtesy.

In his relations to his customer the English furnisher is very different from the American. The former pays much more careful and considerate attention to a customer than is to be seen on this side of the water. Each individual person is given an amount of time, explanation and suggestion far beyond what an American would think of giving. This is in pursuance of the Englishman's policy of doing everything possible to please and assist his customer, that he may hold trade once made. His employés and clerks are educated on this principle, also, and are taught never to push undesirable or questionable goods on established customers; and they have to follow the same precept with the new and chance customer, in order to get his good will and make a friend of him. The habitual courtesy and consideration on the part of tradesman and clerk tells in the long run, and gives distinction to the fine English shop that is sadly lacking in many of our American stores.—The Haberdasher.

Married a Widow.

Gentleman (who has recently married a widow)—Smith offered me his warmest congratulations today, my dear.

Ex-Widow, (surprised)—Why, I thought that Mr. Smith was one of your bitterest enemies?

Gentleman—So I is; and that's just what bothers me.—The Epoch.
